PROJECT DESCRIPTION

RLabs aims to transform young people's mindset so that they can proactively engage in their communities and use the resources and opportunities around them. RLabs uses innovative training tools to promote a growth mindset and innovative thinking, and creates a culture where young people's talents and ideas are nurtured and valued.

During the past seven years, RLabs Tanzania has directly trained over 1500 youth at its Iringa centre, and more than 2000 people in villages around Southern Highlands.

RLabs Tanzania seeks to improve its model, work with more strategic partners, be financially sustainable, and scale its impact. As part of the Institutional Capacity Building Program's (ICB) Business Model, Improvement Track RLabs is developing a number of exciting activities in order to become more sustainable and deliver greater impact.

These include:

1. Refining the Grow Leadership Academy model and scaling up to impact over 2,000 young people.
2. Growing the consultancy services that RLabs offers.
3. Introducing Zlto in Tanzania.
4. Developing a 'Maker Space'.
5. Developing facilities at Mbutu, Kigamboni.
6. Establishing a tree nursery.
